

On the outside, they're all different.
On the inside, they're all different.
But in general, they're all just kids trying to find their way. *Let's guide them in the right direction.

The Epiphany School of Charlotte

The Epiphany School of Charlotte is an alternative educational solution for children with social and communication challenges. It is a loving and progressive response to the desperation many parents have felt as their children move through our social world just a little differently. These kids might have conditions such as Asperger's Syndrome, High Functioning Autism, Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder, Sensory Processing Disorder or another learning disability. Or, they might have no formal diagnosis at all. Their commonality is a departure from the "main stream" that affects communication, perception and ultimately, learning.

Enrollment in The Epiphany School of Charlotte is immediately available to 10- to 14-year-olds whose primary difficulties with social and communication skills impact their ability to learn comfortably and productively. In a small classroom setting, our teachers embrace the individuality of learning style...as well as its complexity. They seek to discover each student's unique way of acquiring and retaining knowledge. Then, they help move them forward, managing struggles by leaning on strengths, and cultivating more strengths all along the way.
